

DATE:

Project Report.....

INTERNET PROGRAMMING LABORATORY

Subject course code: CSE326

L LOVELY
P ROFESSIONAL
U NIVERSITY

---

Transforming Education Transforming India

NAME OF THE FACULTY: MOIN HASSAN

SECTION AND GROUP: K19PT

S.NO	NAME	REG.NUM	ROLL.NUM
1.	Abinash kakoti	11912480	59
2.	Vajja lok sai	11912454	58
3.	Saurabh singh	11912520	60

ABSTRACT

Interactive calendar is a handy desktop calendar with which you won't lose tracks of any meetings, appointments or upcoming events. The most outstanding feature in interactive calendar is its perfect integration with which the window desktop. There is a lot of configuration options in interactive calendar, you can customize every detail in the calendar so that it fits perfectly with your desktop wallpaper and doesn't distract you from work.

Interactive calendar is a highly customizable, easy-to-use desktop calendar-the perfect companion for all those who need to keep track and events.

INTRODUCTION

Interactive calendar is a fusion of beautiful multi-functional desktop calendar and a convenient day planner. Interactive calendar's clean and extremely intuitive interface lets you get right to work. Interactive calendar shows monthly calendar and scheduled appointments directly on your desktop wallpaper, so you never miss them! Adjust anything from the position and size of the calendar to its skin, opacity, color, fonts, shadows, and much more, giving it a custom look. Set up a time interval, select pictures and interactive calendar will change your desktop background using a built-in wallpaper changer. You won't lose any information because you can search the entire databases in a matter of seconds. English not your language? No problem interactive calendar is available in most popular languages. Create links from any item to any other entry, local or network file, or internet pages.

LITERATURE REVIEW

Recently more organizations have started to switch to computers to provide calendars, and reminders. Sun Microsystems for example, is the first company that has used an internally developed groupware calendar and has been using it for about a decade however, designing, building and supporting a software that is functioned to organize group tasks are really challenging since it should be well created to cater the needs of individual users.

PROPOSED METHODOLOGY

Interactive calendar software is a fusion of a multi-functional desktop calendar with impressive customization capabilities and a convenient task manager, capable of bringing some order to your business and personal life , calendars are instrumental in planning the next month, quarter, and year building a project management calendar can be time consuming, and same deadlines before you finish, excel is a default project planning tool because its familiar to many people.

RESULTS & DISCUSSION

For participants in this study, using a calendar was an essential part of their everyday lives, but only a few had experiences using a digital calendar. Although the participants described remind me as easy to use they had a different time incorporating remind me in to their daily routines. In part, these difficulties were the result of participants to use the technology was due to their age, dependence and loss of function.

CONCLUSION

Calendar provides a shared password to access and store other users event details which can be shared by email or by other forms of communication. This application stores all the users events in parse web server sqlite is used as backend to store the information about event and users details in the local database before adding to the parse web server. there is no limit on the number of user accounts for accessing the calendars.

